Burning Bright - Wikipedia

Burning Bright is a 1950 novella by John Steinbeck written as an experiment with producing a play in novel format. Rather than providing only the dialogue and brief stage directions as would be expected in a play, Steinbeck fleshes out the scenes with details of both the characters and the environment. The intention was to allow the play to be read by the non-theatrical reader while still allowing the dialogue to be lifted and performed with little adaptation by acting companies. Burning Bright: A Play in Story Form by John Steinbeck ...

Burning Bright By John Steinbeck. My thoughts and comments: Burning Bright is one of three play-novelettes, (a genre created by Steinbeck), to be written by him. The first was Of Mice and Men and then The Moon is Down. "Burning Bright" is written in a very unusual manner and this is the first time I have come across it. It is written in three parts. All three parts are written about the same

Burning Bright: Amazon.co.uk: John Steinbeck: Books

Burning Bright is, no doubt, a beautiful story that captures raw human emotion under particularly trying circumstances. It is an easy read, and perhaps were it any other author I would have rated the book with 5 stars, but this is not Steinbeck's most creative writing.
