The Journal of Professor Van Helsing is presented as the supposed scholarly documentation written by Van Helsing himself and preserved by a friend. According to the author, Allen C. Kupfer, the journal fell into his hands by accident. The journal is laced with commentary by Kupfer's grandfather and himself. This commentary gives the journal 20th century references and gives the impression of "The Journal of Professor Abraham Van Helsing" interested me because I admit to being entertained by the movie "Van Helsing." I knew that the movie character had very little to do with the literary character, so that was no surprise to me. I never read Bram Stoker's "Dracula," so I had no background of the character in any form but the movie. The way author Allen C. Kupfer approached this book
